OTTAWA.

JULY 12th.

The weather during the past week has been showry and hot, except on Sunday, when a cold north wind blew. The crops in this section of the country are good in general, except hay, which is under the average and in many places will not pay for cutting. Our neighbors in the Province of Quebec have got their election excitement over them. Doctor Duhamel who was elected for Ottawa County, is protested against by the agents of E. B. Eddy, on the grounds of illegal practices.

The various millowners have reduced the wages of their employees twenty per cent., commencing with this week; this is the result of the Lumbermen's Association lately inaugurated. Great excitement prevails amongst Eddy's employees, some of whom say it is because he was not elected M. P., instead of Duhamel. The city is unusually quiet, and hundreds of mill hands are in quest of employment. Wages of such rate from 90 cents to one dollar per diem. The various saw-mills will close early this season owing to so much timber being unable to reach its destination, owing to the water which is exceedingly low in the branch streams of the Ottawa.

The first meeting of the Ottawa Presbytery since the union, was held last week. Rev. Mr. Mann was appointed moderator, and Mr. Carswell, Secretary, at a salary of $120 per annum. The meetings of the Synod are to be quarterly, and the moderator elected every six months. The Agricultural and Arts Association met on Thursday last in the Chamber of the speaker of the Senate. After the reading of the minutes there be any) to a public audience in support of the inspiration of the Bible. These detractors seem to forget or be ignorant of the fact that some of the ablest and best men in all the Churches have volunteered their services and been engaged in missionary work. Does it follow that because a minister is a missionary to Muskoka, or Thunder Bay, or China, or Japan that therefore he is a knave or a fool, especially when the service has been volunteered by the incumbent? In Mr. Marples' case his coming from Scotland to America to engage in missionary work was his own desire and voluntary choice, as I find by the published statement of his church in Edinburgh in "The Colonial Mission Field."

In simple justice to our opponent Mr. Marples, who is coming to Napanee, a stranger here, to undertake what our own ministers will not undertake, I ask a space in your columns for this vindication.

Respectfully Yours,

"THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH."

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, an event in the history of the British Empire which doubtless did much towards shaping the destiny of the great Protestant nation, was duly celebrated by the Orangemen of this section. Belleville was chosen as the place of rendezvous, and thither a vast multitude wended their way from different points along the Bay and surrounding country. It is estimated that not less than 10,000 persons were in town during the day, and when we consider the enthusiasm and excitement which are inseparably connected with the Orange principles — "the

AT MARLBANK.

The day was duly celebrated at the village of Marlbank by a procession composed of the Tamworth, Enterprise, Centreville and Marlbank Lodges, led by the Tamworth Brass Band, under the direction of Mr. John Reid. In the afternoon a sermon was preached for the Brethren by Rev. J. H. Nimmo, B.A., which is highly spoken of by those who heard it. Rev. Mr. Leech, (Presbyterian) of Centreville, Rev. Mr. Ferguson, of Lime Lake, Mr. John Clarke and others also gave addresses. The day passed very pleasantly, there being little or no drinking and no disturbance of any consequence. The visiting Brethren express their obligations for the many kind favors extended by the Orangemen of Marlbank, and will reciprocate when their turn comes.

AT ARDEN.

The little village of Arden, too, situated about 20 miles back of Tamworth, celebrated the anniversary of Orangeism in the usual loyal manner. The Lodges of Parham, Olden and Anglesea united with the Arden Brethren in the formation of a respectable procession. After the walk and refreshments, amusements were improvised and the remainder of the day very agreeably spent. We have no further particulars from the other sections of the back country, but conclude that the day was generally observed wherever Orange principles find favor. One feature of the celebration everywhere in Canada is worthy of remark. Religious bigotry and animosity were not permitted, on either side, to interfere with the simple rights of citizenship, and hence there are no reports of fanatical onslaughts between the Orange and the Green. ## "THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH."

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, an event in the history of the British Empire which doubtless did much towards shaping the destiny of the great Protestant nation, was duly celebrated by the Orangemen of this section. Belleville was chosen as the place of rendezvous, and thither a vast multitude wended their way from different points along the Bay and surrounding country. It is estimated that not less than 10,000 persons were in town during the day, and when we consider the enthusiasm and excitement which are inseparably connected with the Orange principles — "the bannered displays and escutcheons emblazoned," the bands, fifes and drums, there can be no difficulty in estimating the scene in Belleville on the 12th inst. The steamers Utica, Prince Edward, Shannon, Kincardine and Pierrepoint carried loads from Bay ports. The last mentioned boat was engaged by the Orange Young Britons of Napanee, under whose auspices the excursion was conducted, the remaining Orange Societies accompanying as guests. Early in the morning vehicle well-laden began to arrive from all quarters, and by eight o'clock, the whistle sounded, there was a crowd on the streets. The O. Y. formed at their Lodge Rooms on Dundas St., and with their neat uniform and youthful, vigorous appearance, showed to good advantage. Headed by Prof. Jacob's Band and the banners, &c., and followed by the other Societies, they marched to the boat. About 600 were on board, and the sail down the river and up the bay to Belleville, through the cool, bracing atmosphere, was much relished. The usual means of pastime were indulged, and about half-past ten the Pierrepoint steamed into the harbor. Thousands were on the wharves waiting to receive visitors, and so dense was the mass of eager, crowding human beings that some time elapsed before a landing was effected and the procession formed. The march was to the Agricultural Grounds, where the grand procession was formed and the line of route determined.

It was about an hour after noon, when the procession was formed in the little or no drinking and no consequence of any consequence. The Orangemen express their obligations for the many kind favors extended by the Orangemen of Marlbank, and will reciprocate when their turn comes.

AT ARDEN.

The little village of Arden, too, situated about 20 miles back of Timworth, celebrated the anniversary of Orangism in the usual loyal manner. The Lodges of Parham, Olden and Anglesea united with the Arden Brethren in the formation of a respectable procession. After the walk and refreshments, amusements were improvised and the remainder of the day very agreeably spent. Canada is a free country, where all nationalities, and political or religious bodies, have equal rights and privileges; and the law will protect them in the exercise of their rights.

THE TOWN DRAINAGE.

As was intimated in last week's press a public meeting of the electors of Napanee was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, to take under consideration the drainage of the town.

There was a large attendance, and the meeting was a good one.

In the absence of the Mayor, the Reeve, W. Ross, Esq., was called to the chair. He at once called upon Dr. Ruttan, as he had in the Council given this subject particular attention.

Dr. Ruttan having been called upon, made a statement of what had occurred in the Council, and the action they had taken with regard to public drains. That the street committee had been asked by the Council to furnish a report of what they would recommend in the way of public drains; that a thorough drainage of the town was desirable and that they, the Committee, of which he was a member, should furnish some plan by which it could be brought about most efficiently and most economically.

In entering upon their duties they found that the street Committee had expended in 1871, on streets the sum of $3,940.19, in 1872, $5,793.93, in 1873, $3,578.91, in 1874, $5,278.58. He could not ascertain from the treasurers ac-

REV. MR. MARPLES.

Editor of the EXPRESS.

I notice in your last issue a letter from Rev. Mr. Marples, who is next week to meet Mr. Underwood in Napanee in public debate, in which he refers you to documents placed in my possession in regard to his position and standing, past and present, in the Christian Ministry. Allow me space to say that these documents afford a complete contradiction to, and refutation of, the disparaging allegations and uncharitable insinuations which have been circulated against Mr. Marples by persons on his own side, who would, seemingly in anticipation of defeat, fain make it appear in advance that that gentleman will not be a competent or proper representative of the Christian side in the debate.

During the four years since the arrival of Mr. Marples in Canada from Scotland, his record is known or can be ascertained by consulting the published proceedings of the General Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church. Previous to coming here he filled important and honorable positions as a minister in England and Scotland, and has with him credentials (which I have examined) attested by such men as Rev. Sir H. Wellwood Moncreiff, Bart. D. D., Rev. Thos. Smith, D. D., Rev. John Morgan, Rev. John Simpson, Rev. Alex. Duff, D. D., L. L. D., Rev. George Johnston D. D., Capt. Rod. Mackenzie, Secty. Scottish Evangelistic Association, and others. There is therefore no grounds whatever for the derogatory allegations against Mr. Marples which have been going since it was known he intended meeting Mr. Underwood here in public debate. In the absence of any just or tenable grounds on which to base these disparagements it is absurdly urged that Mr. Marples' incumbency is "away back in Muskoka," and hence he is "incompetent"—he is a "Missionary in the back woods" and hence is unfit or unable to present the facts and arguments (if Headed by Prof. Jacob's Band and the banners, &c., and followed by the other Societies, they marched to the boat. About 600 were on board, and the sail down the river and up the bay to Belleville, through the cool, bracing atmosphere, was much relished. Thousands were on the wharves waiting to receive visitors, and so dense was the mass of eager, crowding human beings that some time elapsed before a landing was effected and the procession formed. The march was to the Agricultural Grounds, where the grand procession was formed and the line of route determined.

It was about an hour after noon, when the procession was formed in the following order, marshalled by a number of well-mounted horsemen:—

Union Jack.

BAND.

Napanee Orange Young Britons.
Mill Point Orange Young Britons.
Tweed Orange Young Britons.

BAND.

Belleville Orange Young Britons.

BAND.

Orange Lodges, Counties Lennox and Addington.

BAND.

Orange Lodges, County Prince Edward.

BAND.

Orange Lodges, County S. Hastings.

Grand Lodge Officers, in carriages.

The streets were thronged with spectators, and the dust over part of the route was anything but agreeable. It was two o'clock before the grounds were reached again, and the Brethren were then in good trim for dinner, which was served liberally, and partaken of in the same spirit. Speeches followed, but our space will not admit an extended notice. Shortly after six o'clock the Napanee Brethren were on board with their friends, and the Pierrepoint steamed out amid deafening cheers. The moonlight trip home was delightful, where they arrived about ten, much pleased with the excursion.

In conclusion we have much pleasure in bearing witness to the good order and absence of drunkenness that prevailed. No liquors were sold on board the boat, and for this precaution the Orange Young Britons deserve thanks of all temperance people. knew that the only liability to would come from an excess Ruttan, as he had in the Council given this subject particular attention.

Dr. Ruttan having been called upon, made a statement of what had occurred in the Council, and the action they had taken with regard to public drains. That the street committee had been asked by the Council to furnish a report of what they would recommend in the way of public drains; that a thorough drainage of the town was desirable and that they, the Committee, of which he was a member, should furnish some plan by which it could be brought about most efficiently and most economically.

In entering upon their duties they found that the street Committee had expended in 1871, on streets the sum of $8,940.19, in 1872, $5,798.93, in 1873, $3,578.91, in 1874, $5,278.58. He could not ascertain from the treasurers accounts the precise amount that had been expended on drains, in each and every year, as the whole sum so expended had been charged under the head of "Labour." But from the best information he could obtain from the Treasurer, the street Superintendent, and others who knew, or had ought to know, the probable amount so expended annually, has averaged about $1,350 a year for the last ten or twelve years. He further explained that this was only a part of the actual expenditure, as the Council had been in the habit in most cases of making grants for drainage purposes, on conditions that the party or parties interested would give a proportional amount. Now this is what he would recommend, only in a better form, half to be paid by Local Assessment and half by the Town, under the authority of the Local Improvement Acts; that the expenditure which would under existing arrangements be extended over eight or ten years should be commuted, and made in a single year, the work done well, once for all, and never be meddled with afterwards. He proposed that the drainage works should be constructed at first in that part of the town, where they were most required, viz that portion of the town north of street, with a common outlet Centre street at the swing would be from the P to Bridge street

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

Last week we referred to a scandalous outrage perpetrated by some unknown wretch upon a defenceless young woman from Shannonville, and expressed the hope that the guilty party would be discovered and brought to justice. As yet no sufficient evidence has been adduced to fasten the crime upon any particular person, although suspicion, we believe, is well directed. Since then another and similar affair has transpired, and while the whole community lifts its hands in holy horror, and calls it "shocking" the villain who did the deed is unknown and unpunished. We trust this state of affairs will not exist much longer. From Mr. Storms we learn the following facts:—One day last week a young lady of undoubted respectability, who is favourably known in town, came in from the country when near the Court House met a woman from whom she enquired the direction to a friend's residence. He proposed to know, and offered to show her the way. She consented and followed him across the Railway Bridge and into the deep cutting beyond. Here she protested against going any further in that direction, insisting that he was wrong. He assured her not, and that her friend lived only a short distance away; and when the curve in the road was passed his diabolical design was made manifest. By almost superhuman exertions the frightened woman tore herself from the brute's grasp, and fled screaming. She escaped and told her pitiful tale to the police and citizens whom she met, but not being able in her excitement to give any information which would lead to the arrest of the fiend, the matter necessarily rests. The police are anxious to find some clue which will enable them to fasten

THE LITTLE COAT.

I have a little plaided coat, with trimmings plaided bright,
That has been laid for years away close folded
out of sight;
Yet sometimes, when I chance to come where
it has been so long,
The silken edge looks dim and blurred, because my tears are strong
The last time that I took it down, because the need was o'er,
I found the pockets full of toys, that would be used no more;
The little bits of colored glass and tinsel paper lay Folded together with the coat, and so I let them stay,
Of all the traces that are left, remaining of
the past,
This touches nearest to the heart, because he wore it last:
And often times the little arms were crossed upon its breast,
That never more will clasp me here, because they are at rest,
Without the little tender form, this coat I cannot see—
Something in every worn down fold recalls it back to me;
And though his every garment now is sacred
to my heart,
From this, the pockets filled by him, I could not bear to part.
My little boy no longer needs his coat with trimmings bright,
For since I had it laid away, his robes have been
of white;
So when I meet him at the last my longing eyes may see
The hands that placed the toys held out again to me.

OUR PREMIER AT HOME.

The Premier of Canada, the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, has been in town during the past week, enjoying himself by attending to the business of the Dominion, which is a way of seeking recreation and rest peculiar to men who have a capacity for work. It may not be generally known that this gentleman, who occupies the first place in the councils of the Crown of Canada, won it by his character. Since his accession to office he has infused new life into every public department, and has laid the foundation for the greatest undertakings, which will not fail to sustain the Dominion as the first of Her Majesty's possessions, India only excepted. Among the decorated and debentures for the sum of $12,000, payable over a period of ten years; that is $1200 per annum with the interest thereon, $600 to be raised by Local Assessment, from owners of land according to frontage, or otherwise situated on the streets so drained, and benefited thereby; and $1000 to be paid by the Town. He argued that this would not add a single dollar to the taxation of the town, for all he asked was $600 a year, out of the $1,350 that are now annually expended on drains, which might have answered very well in the early history of the place when the town consisted of but little more than one street, but were wholly insufficient at the present time and would continue to be worse and worse as the town increased in population and area, and after the $600 had been deducted from the $1,350 there would remain a balance of $750 per annum to be expended elsewhere the same as if the work had never been undertaken. He then referred to the Local Assessment; that according to the Engineer's estimate the work would cost about $1. per running foot. The estimate was a trifle over this, but he was informed by the Engineer that he (Mr. Innes) always allowed a fine margin to contractors. This would make $33 to be paid by the owner of each lot of 60 feet frontage, or an annual local assessment of $2.75., but of this the town pays one half which renders it to $1.87 per annum. This he might be told was an under estimate, which he would readily acknowledge. There were a number of streets to cross which must be paid for by the town, with or without the aid of local assessment, interest to be provided for, and other contingencies, so that the local assessment may run up to $2.00 or $2.50 per annum for a lot with 66 feet frontage, but he (Dr. Rittan) would guarantee that if the assessment exceeded the above sum the works would not be undertaken with his consent. He then referred to the great advantages to be derived by the land owners situated on these streets: that it would remain a balance of $750 per annum to be expended elsewhere the same as if the work had never been undertaken. He then referred to the Local Assessment; that according to the Engineer's estimate the work would cost about $1, per running foot. The estimate was a trifle over this, but he was informed by the Engineer that he (Mr. Innes) always allowed a fine margin to contractors. This would make $33 to be paid by the owner of each lot of 66 feet frontage, or an annual local assessment of $2.75, but of this the town pays one half which renders it to $1.87 per annum. He then referred to the great advantages to be derived by the land owners situated on these streets; that it would cost $100 to $400 to the value of each lot so drained; to say nothing about the health of the town and its local conveniences. The object he had in view in moving the Council for the Mayor to call this public meeting was that people might meet together and see what was to be said upon the subject, and so prevent a majority of people from petitioning against the work, and thus embarrass the Mayor who had the interest of the town at heart. He knew very well some of land-owners interested, and he would from the public spirit oppose this under any circumstances.

Dr. Britton could not understand the right minded individual could object to so desirable a work, which can be brought about with so small an assessment. He contended that it was no more a taxation than it would be for a land owner to make any other local improvement for his own personal benefit. He was satisfied, however, that whatever might be the immediate results, this meeting would be productive of good. That the seed had been fairly sown, and all that it now required was time with its seasons, and its sunshine and showers, to produce its fruit.

Charles R. Miller, Esq., spoke at considerable length in opposition to the proposed plan. He urged that the town was now burdened with a debt of about $30,000 and the rate of assessment nearly as high as the law would allow, and to add another $14,000 at this time would be most unfortunate. Drains were needed, but something less expensive might be tried. In his opinion such a plan was not really and strictly necessary, and he was therefore opposed to it. The present drains were much more efficient than was represented, and some streets were already well drained. He claimed to be an economist and would oppose large outlays of public money unless in

The police are anxious to find some clue which will enable them to fasten the charge upon the proper person, and make an example of the wretch. This last outrage took place in midday, and in hailing distance of hundreds. No language we can properly use is too strong to express the public feeling on such conduct, and for the credit of our town we trust a repetition will not occur.

The steamer Rochester was seized at Belleville for infract of the Customs laws. There were 12 births, 5 marriages and in Belleville during the month according to registration.

Proems off the St. Lawrence bank were refused in Belleville, unless at a discount of 40 per cent. The bank is said to be perfectly solvent.

There are now fewer prisoners in Belleville jail than for many months past.

OUR PREMIER AT HOME.

The Premier of Canada, the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, has been in town during the past week, enjoying himself by attending to the business of the Dominion, which is a way of seeking recreation and rest peculiar to men who have a capacity for work. It may not be generally known that this gentleman, who occupies the first place in the councils of the Crown of Canada, won it by his character. Since his accession to office he has infused new life into every public department, and has laid the foundation for the greatest undertakings, which will not fail to sustain the Dominion as the first of Her Majesty's possessions, India only excepted. Among the decorated and titled guests of her Majesty at the State Ball last night there was not one who has done better, harder, or more enduring work for the Queen's Empire than Mr. Alexander Mackenzie.—London Canadian News.

THE BEECHER SCANDAL.

The following correspondence has passed between F. D. Moulton and District-Attorney Britton. The reply of the latter is particularly good. Mr. Moulton writes:—

The following is Moulton's letter:—
SIR.—It is now nearly a year since, at the instance of Rev. H. W. Beecher, I was indicted for libel in charging him with adultery with Elizabeth R. Tilton. During all this time the prosecution have taken no step for the trial of the indictment. I am advised I have a right to demand the trial, and, accordingly, I hereby notify that I am ready at any moment to meet the charge, and request you to appoint the earliest practicable day for trial; and since it is intimated by parizans of the prosecution that they intend to shield him from the consequences of the exposure involved in the trial of my charge of adultery by procuring the withdrawal or suppression of this indictment, I hereby protest against such an evasion of public justice and outrage on private right. local improvement for his own personal benefit. He was satisfied, however, that whatever might be the immediate results, this meeting would be productive of good. That the seed had been fairly sown, and all that it now required was time with its seasons, and its sunshine and showers, to produce its fruit.

Charles R. Miller, Esq., spoke at considerable length in opposition to the proposed plan. He urged that the town was now burdened with a debt of about $30,000 and the rate of assessment nearly as high as the law would allow, and to add another $14,000 at this time would be most unfortunate. Drains were needed, but something less expensive might be tried. In his opinion such a plan was not really and strictly necessary, and he was therefore opposed to it. The present drains were much more efficient than was represented, and some streets were already well drained. He claimed to be an economist and would oppose large outlays of public money unless in case of necessity. In regard to the estimates produced he thought them of little value and probably much too low. The engineers making them had not made any personal survey and knew nothing of the nature of the soil to be drained or the elevation of the land, and his estimates therefore were of little importance.

S. McL. Dettlor, Esq., spoke, opposing the measure, as an increase of taxation, but his remarks were inaudible to us.

John T. Grange, M. P. P., also spoke in opposition, urging that a good deal had already been done by property owners in regard to drains, and it was hardly fair to put on the tax as proposed.

Mr. T. W. Casey said the p wanted to know first if the drain the streets referred to was and then if the present scheme most efficient and the cheap end. He did not claim in regard to it and y an opinion.

DOMESTIC DIPLOMACY.

She was watching at the window,
As I hurried down the street,
In the simple brown merino
That I fancy looks so neat,
And her smile I thought portentous,
It was so exceeding sweet.

Then she met me at the threshold
With a very loving kiss,
That recalled the early stages
Of our matrimonial bliss,
And I felt at once a tremor—
Was there anything amiss?

No! The children were all quiet,
And the hearth was very bright,
And my pet—our roguish Charlie—
Was quite festal in his white;
Yet I braced myself for something,
Be that something what it might.

My chair was near the fire,
And my slippers by its side—
My pipe was very handy,
And my papers open wide,
And she wore the pretty breastpin
That I gave her when a bride.

The dinner was perfection—
It was lavish without waste;
The soupe was vermicelli,
And exactly to my taste;
While the desert was a triumph
Of artistic skill in paste.

And when the meal was over,
And the inner man at rest,
She drew her chair beside me,
With the baby on her breast,
I felt, and so I told her,
I was one among the blest.

Oh! the smile of tender radiance
That illuminated all her face,
As I clasped her to my bosom
In a lover's fond embrace,
It was then she softly whispered,
"Won't you let me have that lace?"

THE COMPANY PLAN.

Here's something, my dears, that the editor of St. Nicholas said long ago to a crowd of youngsters. As I never heard of its doing them any special harm, it occurs to me that it will not hurt my little folks to hear it:

Did you ever notice what an amiable, pleasant feeling steals over you when you are visiting and on your "good behavior?"—how willing you are to overlook anything that interferes with your comfort?—how anxious to please and how ready to take an interest in all that is going on?—At these times your face lights up, your voice grows sweet and cheerful, your very movements become graceful. "What pleasant persons these friends are!" you say to yourself; and they very naturally consider you quite winning and delightful. So far so good. It is just as I should be.

Of course, when you go home you take all your pleasant ways with you. If these friends who have known you but a little while and who care for you merely as friends, have power to brighten and sweeten you, certainly when

THE STORY OF A STREET ARAB.

The story of a Cincinnati newsboy who found a pocketbook containing $100 and returned it to the owner with contents intact, reached Philadelphia in good season, and was productive of considerable of a sensation among the street Arabs. One small boy was so affected by it that he straightway determined to see that Cincinnati boy, and go him seventeen or eighteen better. He took another small boy into his confidence, and the test of probity of character was carried into effect. Boy No. 2 dropped a well padded pocketbook, which boy No. 1, following close behind, picked up.

Then with a look on his face that would have done honor to Benjamin Franklyn, the honest little fellow walked up to an old gentleman who was passing by, extended the pocketbook, and with trembling voice exclaimed, "Take it, sir. It is yours. You dropped it just now. My mother and seven little brothers are starving, but I cannot keep it, sir, for it don't belong to me." The old gentlemen looked at the boy, then pulled out his spectacles and adjusted them for a better sight. He could not sufficiently admire the wan visage of that little street wanderer, illuminated as it was with a glow of goodness and honesty.

He patted the boy on the head, and pulling a five dollar bill from his vest pocket, handed it to him, saying, "Boy, you will grow to be a great man. Take this money for your starving family, and always remember that 'honesty is the best policy.'" Then the old gentleman hurried into the nearest lager beer saloon and opened his pocket book. Then he began to dance around and call heaven and earth to witness that if ever he encountered that boy again he would flay him alive. And he continued to orate until a policeman was called in to arrest him as a lunatic, and the only excuse he could offer for his conduct was that a small boy had robbed him of five dollars by giving him a pocketbook stuffed with old paper.

SHIP ATTACKED BY A SWORDFISH.—The Liverpool Mercury says:—"Mr. J. J. Harwood, master of the British Brigantine Fortunate, in dock at Liverpool, reports that whilst on his passage from the Rio Grande, when in latitude 22.12 north, and longitude 47.9 west,

"A SCREW LOOSE."

"Only a little screw loose." That's all. It's only a little screw loose somewhere. He would be all right only for that. He's a good sort of a fellow in his way—naturally good-hearted—means to do about right—but—ah! there is the loose screw. But for that! My young friend, did you ever hear your neighbor make such a remark about you? And, did you lay the flattering unction to your soul that it didn't much matter? If only one screw was loose you would soon come out right? Well, so far as any moral reliance upon you is concerned, your whole structure, mental and physical, might as well be knocked into wreck and ruin as for you to go with that one little screw loose. Before you can be trusted you must tighten up the very last atom of your machinery, and see that every part is in accord with every other part. Man is not unlike a watch in this respect. I have a fine chronometer from the hands of one of the most approved engineering makers; every effort of genius in work, outside and in. By and by my chronometer moves uncertainly, and finally stops. I take it to a watchmaker, and he looks at it and says: "Only a little screw loose." That's all; in the delicate machinery, among the many nicely adjusted parts, only one little screw is loose. And yet for all legitimate purposes of a timekeeper the whole watch might as well be crushed into utter ruin, as to leave that one screw loose. We are not apt to fully realize the importance of the little things of life. Life—that life which makes the man—is made up of many, very many parts, all delicately and nicely adjusted; and he, to be relied upon, who would be trusted, must have no loose screws in the machinery of his being—not one. Right to right, and if there is a screw loose, all is wrong; and, until that screw is tightened to its proper bearing, trust and reliance in that particular being are lost. Young men don't forget even the smallest things of every-day life. Look to it that every part of your moral and physical machinery is in perfect order—and so shall you be honored and trusted.

Of course, when you go home you take all your pleasant ways with you. If these friends who have known you but a little while and who care for you merely as friends, have power to brighten and sweeten you, certainly when you return to your own relatives, who love you so much, you'll be brighter and sweeter than ever.

Is it so? perhaps it is. But if, by any chance, it should not be—if, for instance, you choose to let yourself be sour or indifferent at home, thinking any tone of voice, any glum look, and any careless word good enough for "the folks"—I'm sorry for you, that's all. You lose a great deal of comfort, and you miss a great opportunity of making others happy. But it is never too late to improve. Suppose you try the company plan. Be polite, sunny, and charming at home. Commence to-morrow—no, to-day. The home is only a visit after all, for no family can remain together always.—St. Nicholas for July.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT.—A sad accident happened about 1 p. m., on the 24th inst., in West Williams, County of Middlesex. Charles Hill was sinking a well on his farm, and, on reaching a depth of thirty feet, left for dinner, and on his return descended, but on reaching a depth of 14 feet, he dropped from the bucket, overcome by poisonous gas.

Thinking the ship had been merely struck by the tail of some sea monster, he took no further notice of the matter; but after discharging cargo at Runcorn, and coming into the Canada half-tide dock, he found the plank ends in the stern on closer examination he found that a swordfish had driven completely through the plank, four inches in thickness, leaving the point of the sword nearly eight inches through the plank. The fish in its struggle broke the sword off level with the outside of the vessel, and by its attack upon the ship lost nearly a foot length of the very dangerous weapon with which it was armed. There is no doubt that this somewhat singular occurrence took place when the vessel was struck as Captain Harwood describes.

PARIS GREEN.—While many authorities recommend that Paris green be dusted over potato vines attacked by the Colorado beetle, it is confessed by all that the use of the poison in this manner is attended with considerable danger, as the dust is too poisonous to be inhaled with impunity. Then, too, Paris green can only be applied dry when the dew is on. Paris green may be dissolved in water at any time and is safer from dust. A small quantity of Paris green is sufficient

A GOOD WORD FOR THE GIRLS.

"Why is it," says a recent writer, "that gentlemen have such a poor opinion of young girls? As a rule they think them pleasant to pass an hour with, provided the girls let them make them so. They will not repay them with interest! And will to blame for this? Surely not girls! Their highest ambition in life is to be loved by, and become the good man. And say what you will, protest that it is a noble end, and its end in view, it is often a very natural that a desire to please these "lords of creation" should be uppermost in a girl's mind. If she cannot do it by fair means, she will do it by foul. If men will not be interested when you talk sense to them, what can you do but resort to nonsense? Men complain that girls never have anything to talk of except their last flirtation, balls, and parties. Yet if they converse with you for an hour on philosophy, metaphysics, or even the last new book, you are bored, call the poor girl who has worried her brain for your entertainment a "blue stocking," insist that women were made to please, not to lecture one like a brained professor, and wonder "what she did it for!" Now what is it you men want of us? I venture to say, if you were to lay down your rules, there is no one girl in a thousand but would gladly obey them, ridiculous as they would surely be. Try it and see. If you have a lady friend whom you think so much of, if it were not for this or that little fault, tell her so, and if she cares anything for you she will correct it. Your influence over us is greater even than I like to confess, but you see it in the wrong way. Take my advice and treat women more like

SHUT THE DOOR SOFTLY.

Shut the door softly, mother, asleep,
Her fever is broken, her slumber is deep,
Look in her pale face and see there no
pain,
Darling be thankful, we've mother again.

Shut the door softly, and come to her
side.
What should we do if our mother had died?
She who has loved us our weary lives
through,
Shut the door softly, and do as I do.

Shut the door softly, and kneel with me
here,
To Him who has spared us our own mother
dear,
Who has given her back to our arms once
again,
Borne her through danger and softened her
pain

Shut the door softly, and look in her face,
And see how it gathers in health and in grace;
Is she not handsome, this mother of ours,
Waking to life like the budding of flowers?

Let us lose all in this fast-flying life,
Sister and brother and husband, and wife,
Mother's love, only, all time has defied;
Shut the door softly, and come to her
side.

Shut the door softly, mother's awake,
Back from the shores of the fathomless
lake;
Weary with travel; and laden with charms,
Longing to clasp us within her dear arms.

Mother, dear mother! we loved you before,
Now we shall love you a thousand times more.
Welcome, dear heart, from the shadowy land;
Shut the door softly, and kiss her dear hand.

—John W. Watson,

THE PERIL OF SMOKING.

A New York correspondent, writing to the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of the dangers attendant upon the use of tobacco, says: "A case in my own intimate acquaintance has this very week appalled a large circle of friends in this city. The victim was exactly of my own years, and a companion from early boyhood. For thirty years, at least, he has been a daily smoker of the choicest cigars, but in all other habits temperate and regular, and of excellent constitution—one who of all men would have laughed at the suggestion that tobacco was killing him. A week ago last Sunday night he was stricken with progressive paralysis, characteristic of nicotine, and on Sunday night he died. His death was most pitiful. First, sight was lost, then speech, then motion of the neck, then motion of the arms, and soon throughout the body, and he lay

TREATMENT OF A BALKY HORSE.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals put forth the following rules for the treatment of balky horses:

1. Pat the horse upon the neck; examine the harness carefully, first on one side then on the other, speaking encouragingly while doing so; then jump into the waggon and give the word go; generally he will obey.

2. A teamster in Maine says he can start the worst balky horse by taking him out of the shafts and making him go round in a circle till he is giddy. If the first dance of this sort does not cure him, a second will.

3. To cure a balky horse, simply place your hand over the horse's nose, and shut off his wind until he wants to go.

4. The brain of a horse seems to entertain but one idea at a time; therefore whipping only confirms his stubborn resolve. If you can, by any means, give him a new subject to think of, you will generally have no trouble in starting him. A simple remedy is to take a couple of turns of stout twine around the fore leg, just below the knee, tight enough for the horse to feel, and tie in a bow-knot. At the first check he will probably go dancing off, and, after going a short distance, you can get out and remove the string to prevent injury to the tendon, in your further days.

WOULDN'T MARRY A MECHANIC.

A young man commenced visiting a young woman, and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, which led the young lady to enquire where he had been.

"I had to work to-night."

"What, do you work for a living?" she inquired in astonishment.

"Certainly," replied the young man. "I am a mechanic."

"I dislike the name of a mechanic," and she turned up her pretty nose.

This was the last time the young man visited the young lady. He is now a wealthy man, and has one of the best women in the country for a wife.

The young lady who disliked the name of a mechanic is now the wife of a miserable fool—a regular vagrant about crossroads—and the same

AN IRISH FABLE.

"THE BAD SON AND THE GOOD SON."

"An' it was once' leng ago, in the old country," said Mrs. Biddy, "there was a livin' a fine, clane, honnest, poor widdy woman, an' she havin' twa sons, an' she fetched the both of 'em up fine and careful but one of 'em turned out bad intirley. An' one day says she to him, says she:

'I've given you your livin' as long as ivor I can, and it's you must go out into the wide worruld to make your fortune."

"Mother, I will," says he.

"An' will ye take a big cake wid me curse, or a little cake an' me blessing?" says she.

"The big cake, surn," says he.

"So she baked a big cake and cursed him, and he went away laughin." By and by he came forninst a spring in the woods and sat down to ate his dinner off the cake, and a small, little bird sat on the edge of the spring.

"Give me a bit of that cake for me little ones in the nest," says she; and he caught up a stone to throw at her.

"I've scace enough for meself," says he; and she beid' a fairy put her bane in the spring and toorned it black as ink, and wint away up in the trees. And while he looked for her to kill her a fox wint away wid his cake.

So he wint away from that place very mad, an' next day he stopped, very hungry, at a farmer's house and hired out to tind the cows.

"Be wise," says the farmer's wife, "for the next field is belongin' to a giant, and if the cows gets in the clover he will kill you dead as a sthone."

"But the bad son laughed and wint away out to watch the cows, and before a noontime he wint to slape up in a tree, and the cows all wint in the clover, an' out comes the giant and shook him down out of the tree an' killed him dead, and that was the end of the bad son.

"And by the next year the poor widdy woman, she says to the good son;

'Ye must go out into the wide worruld and sake your fortune, for I can kape you no longer,' says she.

"Mother, I will," says he.

"An' will ye take a big cake wid me curse, or a little cake wid me bless-

First, sight was lost, then speech, then motion of the neck, then motion of the arms, and soon throughout the body, and he lay for a fortnight unable to move or make a sign, save a pitiful, tongueless, inarticulate sound, which sometimes rose to almost frantic effort, all in vain to make known what he wished to say, to his family or friends—for his consciousness and mental faculties were left unimpaired till within two hours of the last, to aggravate to the utmost the horror of his situation—a living soul in a dead body. The sense of hearing was left unimpaired, so that he was conscious of all around him, while as incapable of communication with them as if dead, save by a slight sign of assent or dissent to a question. The doctors were fully agreed that tobacco was the sole cause of the stroke."

REMIND ME OF THE KING.

Persons sometimes get a habit of swearing. They say they do not think, and cannot help it. Yet there are few of them who would swear in the presence of some eminent person whom they respected. They can break off the habit if they will. Such persons may profit by the story of the Prussian major.

La Fontaine, chaplain in the Prussian army, once preached a very earnest and eloquent sermon on the sin and folly of yielding to a hasty temper. The next day he was accosted by a major of the regiment with the words,—

"Well, sir, I think you made use of the prerogatives of your office to give me some very sharp hits yesterday."

"I certainly thought of you while I was preparing the sermon," was the answer; "but I had no intention of being personal or sharp."

"Well, it is of no use," said the major; "I have a hasty temper, and I cannot control it, it is impossible."

A young man commenced visiting a young woman, and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, which led the young lady to enquire where he had been.

"I had to work to-night."

"What, do you work for a living?" she inquired in astonishment.

"Certainly," replied the young man.

"I am a mechanic."

"I dislike the name of a mechanic," and she turned up her pretty nose.

This was the last time the young man visited the young lady. He is now a wealthy man, and has one of the best women in the country for a wife.

The young lady who disliked the name of a mechanic is now the wife of a miserable fool—a regular vagrant about grogshops—and the soft, verdant, silly, miserable girl is obliged to take in washing, in order to support herself and children.

You dislike the name of mechanic, eh!—You whose brothers are but well-dressed loafers. We pity any girl who is so verdant, so soft, as to think less of a young man for being a mechanic—one of God's noblemen—the most dignified and honorable personage of heaven's creatures.

Beware young ladies, how you treat young men who work for a living, for you may one of these days be menial to one of them. Far better to discharge the well-fed pauper with all his rings, jewelry, brazenness and pomposity, and to take to your affection the callous-handed, industrious mechanic.

Thousands have bitterly repented their folly who have turned their backs on honest industry. A few years have taught them a severe lesson.

FORCE OF MANNER.

An old lawyer being asked for some advice as to the best mode of securing success at the bar, replied, "Speak loud, long and positively, and it will make but little difference what you say." Lung power, perseverance, and self-confidence are wonderful aids to the orator. Without them the greatest abilities are of little use to him. An old clergyman of great reasoning powers and ample stores of learning, whose sermons were always deep, but comparatively ineffective, being asked how much of a sermon is due to manner, answered, "Three-fourths."

"A MIGHTY NICE MARE."

"Yes," said the driver of a car to the man who stood on the steps, "she's mighty nice mare for our work—least-out to find the cows.

"Be wise," says the farmer's wife, "for the next field is belongin' to a giant, and if the cows gets in the clover he will kill you dead as a sthene."

"But the bad son laughed and wint away out to watch the cows, and before a noontime he wint to slape up in a tree, and the cows all wint in the clover, an' out comes the giant and shook him down out of the tree an' killed him dead, and that was the end of the bad son.

"The little cake" says he.

"So she baked it for him and gave him her blessing, and he wint away, an' she a-weepin' afther him foine and loud. An' by and by he came to the spring in the woods where the bad son was before him, and the small, little bird sat again on the side of it.

"Give me a bit of yer cakeen for me little ones in the nest," says she.

"I will," says he, an' he broke off a foine piece, and she dipped her bake in the spring and toorned it into sweet wine; and when he bit his cake, shure an' she had toorned it into fine plum cake intirely, an' he ate and drank and wint on light-hearted. And nixt he come to the farmer's house.

"Will ye tind cows for me?" says the farmer

"I will," says the good son.

"Be wise," says the farmer's wife, "for the clover field beyant is belongin' to the giant, an' if you lave in the cows he will kill you dead."

"Never fear!" says the good son; "I don't sleep at me worruck."

"And he goes out into the field and lugs a big stone up in the tree, and thim sinds ivery cow far out in the clover fields, and goes back ag'in to the tree. And out comes the giant a roarin' so that you could hear the roars of him a mile away; and when he finds the cow-boy, he goes under the tree to shake him down, but the good little son slips out the big stone, an' it fell down and broke the giant's head intirely. So the good son wint running away to the giant's house, and it bein' full to the eaves of gold and silver and splendid things?

"See what fine luck comes to folks that is good and honest! An' he went home and fetched his old mother, an' body. The sense of hearing was left unimpaired, so that he was conscious of all around him, while as incapable of communication with them as if dead, save by a slight sign of assent or dissent to a question. The doctors was fully agreed that tobacco was the sole cause of the stroke."

"Well, it is of no use," said the major; "I have a hasty temper, and I cannot control it, it is impossible."

And, still adhering to this opinion, after some further conversation he went his way.

The next Sabbath La Fontaine preached upon self-deception, and the vain excuses which men are wont to make.

"Why," said he, "a man will declare it is impossible to control his temper, when he knows that were the same provocation to happen in the presence of his sovereign he not only could, but would, control himself entirely. And yet he dares to say that the continual presence of the King of kings and Lord of lords imposes upon him neither restraint nor fear!"

The next day, his friend, the major, again accosted him.

"You were right, yesterday, chaplain," he said humbly. "Hereafter, whenever you see me in danger of falling, remind me of the King!"

"Dar," says Sambo, "de President hab signed dat cibbil rights. Now we can go out an' hook turkeys jiss-like de white folks."

"A MIGHTY NICE MARE."

"Yes," said the driver of a car to the man who stood on the steps, "she's mighty nice mare for our work—least-ways to look at. Kiel? Well, you bet. Since I've had her she's removed the insides from two horses knicked in with her; she's caved in her stall times enough to make one carpenter rich, and lived up more'n one passenger; remember one case in particular: Nice old gent with youngsters, goin' out for a Sunday picnic, had a basket of lunch covered up with a tablecloth. Jest as he was gettin' off the mare worked round when I wasn't lookin', and she fetched that basket one clatter with both feet—I don't rightly know but she got in all four—anyways there was lunch for everybody within ten rods, whether he wanted it or not; the paper boys mostly did. Think the old man saved the handle of a ham and the cork of one bottle. Such a nice-looking beast as she is, too. Why, that mare has been bought no less'n three times, 'cause she was sich a gentle-lookin' lady's horse. Well, it's good for doctors and wagon-makers anyhow. Always staves up the family and gets back into the team less'n a week. Never was broke, she wasn't and never will be until she falls off a house."

It is always hard to "hit the wrong nail on the head"—particularly if it be one's fingernail.

You Sunday sports can't disguise a fish-pole so it'll look a cane, with any degree of success.

The most vigilant people are those who neglect their own business to attend to the affairs of their neighbors.

"I wish I was a pudding, mamma!" "Why?" "Cause I should have such lots of sugar put into me!"

Husband—"What's the use going out this sloppy weather?" Wife—"What's the use having striped stockings?"

"I would rather," said Cato, "that people should inquire why no statue was erected to me, than why I had one."

SOMETHING NEW IN NAPANEE. FEATHERS CLEANED BY STEAM.

W. H. BRUTON, having purchased one of Manley's Patent Steam Feather Renovating Machines, Patented last April, and a Right to use the same, is now prepared to RENOVATE FEATHER BEDS, PILLOWS, BOLSTERS, &c.

Whether made of Geese, Hens, Ducks, or any description of Feathers. Parties bringing Feathers from a distance, can have them renovated same day, if required

THERE IS NO POSSIBILITY OF INJURING THE FEATHERS.

In the least, as they are cleansed by steam. With this process all Smell, Dust, Dirt etc, is removed, and the Feather made cleaner and livelier than when new, as those we have worked for can testify.

BEDS ARE PERFECTLY PURIFIED BY THIS PROCESS.

It is estimated that two-fifths of all sickness arises from Impure Beds, and we are all aware that this department of house-keeping has been by far the most neglected. As we have never had any Renovators that would do the work satisfactorily until this, we give a general invitation to every Lady and Gent to

POLITICAL SPLEEN.

The Mail is nothing if not censorious. It can discover a fault in a political opponent, and magnify it to monstrous proportions, when to less critical eyes there is evidence only of fair dealing. As our readers are doubtless aware the Premier, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, is now in Europe, and his worth as a man and his services as a statesman are recognized by all classes, from the titled nobility down to the humblest class who are familiar with his life's history. He has been feted and honored by his Sovereign and made a peer by those who claim aristocratic descent. A recent issue of the Christian World, a religious paper published in England, contained a short biographical sketch of Mr. Mackenzie's life, in which his sterling integrity of character and indomitable will were highly eulogized. Reference was also made to the Pacific Railway Scandal, and the memorable saying of the sturdy Scotchman when accused of having been a common laboring man:—

"True, I have soiled my hands with honest labor, but not with Tory gold." From this the Mail concludes, with logic peculiarly its own, that the article in question was written by Mr. Mackenzie himself, and proceeds in its usual reckless style to ridicule Grit modesty and Grit purity. We doubt very much whether another such critic can be found in Canada, subservient as most of the Conservative journals are to the leading organ of the gentleman's party. No doubt it is very annoying to those who repudiate plebeian genealogy and pride themselves upon a blue-blooded pedigree to hear of so much honor being conferred upon a Scotch stone-mason, even if he be Premier of the Dominion of Canada. They cannot conceive how anyone living, or being, in England can possess such familiarity with the life of so ordinary an individual, and hence these favorable notices must be written or inspired by Mr. Mackenzie himself.

The result, however, is somewhat disappointing to the Liberals, and, of course, correspondingly gratifying to the Conservatives. The questions at issue in that province are so complicated, and the dominant Church seems to exercise such a powerful influence on political matters, it is very difficult to calculate with any degree of certainty. The estimated strength of the two parties in the new House, as given by the Globe and Mail, differs widely, but we assume that the Government will have a majority of about ten, perhaps less. The Opposition, under Mr. Joly's leadership will be united and effective.

MR. YEOMANS' GRAND CONCERT.

We are now informed that Mr. J. W. Yeomans has about completed his arrangements for his mammoth Picnic and Concert. He intends to have it take place in Allison's grove, on the Bay shore, front of Adolphustown, on Tuesday 27th inst. Four steamers have been arranged with to carry passengers from the various points along the Bay that day to the picnic, and a grand muster may be looked for. At the Concert, which will be in the open air, there will be vocal and instrumental music, with a grand chorus of 1000 children's voices, of his united classes in the various places. The Battery Band of Kingston has been engaged for the day. We doubt not but it will be a grander affair than was ever witnessed before of the kind in this section of country.

OTTAWA NORMAL SCHOOL.

At a recent session of the Council of Public Instruction teachers were selected for the new Normal School at Ottawa, which is to open in September next. The principal is Mr. John McCabe, who has been English master in the Provincial Normal School at Truro, Nova Scotia. Mr. W. B. Riddell, mathematical master in the Cobourg Collegiate Institute, is appointed to the same post at Ottawa, and Mr. John Gibson, Professor of Classics in Albert University, Belleville, will be the science master. These are the most important appointments made; the remaining offices will be filled before the opening. In accordance with the usual custom of the Council the above are for six months only, this being thought a

"BETTER TIMES."

The Belleville Intelligencer has some hopes of the country yet. A few days ago it was confident that financial ruin, or something like it, would follow Mr. Cartwright's notorious blundering, and quoted largely from the Montreal Times in support of its predictions. The tightness of the money market was solely due to the inefficiency to Grit financiering, and the result of all such things was foretold with a countenance of the most portentous immobility. But lo, and behold! the same authority is now advanced in proof of better times coming. The Government payments, maturing on the 4th of the present month, and to meet which notice was given to the banks some time ago, "have been well got over, and that without any extraordinary pressure on the banks for discounts," says our contemporary, and, therefore, "there is good reason to feel confident of a revival in trade at no distant day." All this is very solacing, coming as it does from so prominent an opponent of the Mackenzie government. It is true the real cause of this hopeful condition of affairs is attributed to "the resources of the country," but if Sir John's influence at Ottawa was sufficient to ensure good crops, buoyant financial markets, how is it that there is no retrogression or decadence under Grit rule? "We are straightened as a country exactly as individuals are straightened." Just so, and governmental incapacity has nothing whatever to do with it. We are pleased to see the Intelligencer take such a common-sensed view of existing affairs, and not indulge in that

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some time ago a learned seer announced to the world the result of his investigations into the mysteries of Nature's laws, which are hid from ordinary mortals and revealed only to the wise. He foretold great convulsions—earthquakes, tornadoes, whirlwinds and destructive storms. The experience of some parts of the world would seem to justify the predictions. There has been a great destruction of life and property, especially throughout Europe.

A telegram from Ottawa says the potato bug has reached the desert one hundred miles north of the Ottawa river. They came in showers, and struck against the window panes like hail. We did know that they were capable of performing winged feats, and are somewhat inclined to think that the wrong bug is reported this time. Perhaps grasshoppers are meant; but the bugs are mean enough for almost anything.

If there can be anything more disagreeable to the average newspaper reader than the daily war bulletins from Spain we pray that it may not transpire. The sympathy naturally felt for the distracted and unhappy country is greatly interrupted by false, exaggerated and evidently insane reports from the respective forces. We find it difficult to make a choice between the Alfonsist and Carlist claimants, for the very reason that both sides seem to have an utter disregard for ordinary [military] rules and enlightened policy. Spain is cursed if ever a nation was, and can never rise

All this is very solacing, coming as it does from so prominent an opponent of the Mac-kenzie government. It is true the real cause of this hopeful condition of affairs is attributed to "the resources of the country," but if Sir John's influence at Ottawa was sufficient to ensure good crops, buoyant financial markets, how is it that there is no retrogression or decadence under Grit rule? "We are straightened as a country exactly as individuals are straightened." Just so, and governmental incapacity has nothing whatever to do with it. We are pleased to see the Intelligencer take such a common-sensed view of existing affairs, and not indulges in that puerile style of argument at once disgraceful and contemptible. It was well known that the payments spoken of were due this month, and that Mr. Cartwright's note to the banks was merely a formal proceeding, entirely in keeping with ordinary business transactions. The Montreal Gazette was sufficiently honorable to acknowledge this at the outset, but so long as there was the least prospects of making some political capital the absurd cry was kept up. In common parlance, the scheme is "played out."

THE QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

The recent local elections in the Province of Quebec have excited considerable interest throughout the Dominion. The Crown Land and Tanneries scandals, which have been before the public for some time, were thought of sufficient importance to greatly weaken confidence in the De Boucherville Government, and a majority for Mr. Joly was anticipated.

of some parts of the world would seem to justify the predictions. There has been a great destruction of life and property, especially throughout Europe.

We find it difficult to make a choice between the Alfonsist and Carlist claimants, for the very reason that both sides seem to have an utter disregard for ordinary [military] rules and enlightened policy. Spain is cursed if ever a nation was, and can never rise to respectability unless a wonderful revolution of political and social life is effected—and the prospects of such a result is very remote indeed.

Plymouth Church has taken the earliest possible opportunity of giving a tangible expression of confidence in Henry Ward Beecher as its beloved pastor. The responsible members have unanimously voted to increase his salary to $100,000 for the present year. This is their way of helping him defray the expenses of the great trial; and who will not say that they have acted wisely? A committee of the leading citizens of Brooklyn has also been appointed to make arrangements for a public meeting and social reception to be tendered early in the fall, during the week preceding Mr. Beecher's resumption of preaching. All this would indicate an undiminished love and respect for the eloquent divine. But what about his prosecutor? Who are fettering and honoring Theodore Tilton? His name is dropped by common consent.

Local News

MOONLIGHT evenings, and delightfully cool.

EVERYBODY, with his wife and family, went on the Excursion to-day.

BOATING on the river now all the rage. Belleville supplies the means.

STREET PRACHING regularly sustained. Napanee must be a good field for evangelical work.

A SCENT of new-mown hay is on the breeze. The click of the scythe is heard over the hill.

PEOPLE will sleep in church and get scolded by the preacher. It is a bad habit.

REV. PROF. BADGELY, of Albert University, preached in the M. E. Church last Sunday evening.

DEATHS are frequent in our midst. The measured tones of the funeral bell announce one more place vacant.

RASPBERRIES are the coming luxury, and they're coming along rapidly. Recent rains have produced a large growth.

FOREPAUGH's great show will be here on the 30th, inst. It is somewhat doubtful whether we have a field big enough to permit the immense concern to swing in.

MR. YOUMANS has chartered two steamers to run from Kingston and four from other parts of the Bay of Quinte, for his mammoth pic-nic in Allison's grove, Adolphustown.

BABY SHOWS.—They are getting popular, and why not? Nice babies are more deserving of prizes than nice hogs, sheep, cows and horses. Kingston thinks so, and will have a baby show during the Central Exhibition in September. Napanee expects the first prize at that show, and will have it, too.

TEG SMART.—Ye quill-driver of the New Nation talks up to the little steamer Shannon for being so unnecessarily "smart" as to leave Napanee ten minutes before time, whereby somebody was left behind, and had to get a conveyance to Mill Point. Capt. Johnston must regulate his patent-lever—it's too fast.

ICE CREAM.—It is delicious, and PERSONAL.—Mr. T. S. Carman, of the Belleville Ontario, was in town on Wednesday, and called to pay his respects to the EXPRESS, of which he retains kindly recollections.

Remember that the great sale of the furniture &c., of Mrs. David Roblin, will take place on Saturday next at one o'clock, at the late residence of Dr. Oronhyatekha. A rare chance to those who may need first class furniture cheap.

THE RAIN on Tuesday did considerable damage to grain, especially barley. It fell with such volume and force that the stalks were beaten down flat, and it is feared the grain will be injured in consequence. Considerable hay was also caught in a condition unsuited for a soaking.

NEW DOMINION MONTHLY for July received. The Frontispiece,—"Reconciled Powers," represents Emperor Joseph, of Austria, and King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, side by side, as they sat in a gondola going up and down the canals of Venice. The contents are, as usual, varied and highly interesting. Price $1.50; John Dougall & Son, Montreal.

SACRILEGE.—The Newburgh Reporter last week announced that some person, or persons had torn up the corner stone of the new C. M. Church at Napanee Mills, and removed the few pieces of coin deposited thereunder. Whoever did such a mean act would steal the coppers off a dead man's eyes, or cheat a printer.

ROWING.—Mr. Mark Bottoms, of Belleville, has anticipated the wants of Napanee denizens by bringing down a number of neat, light rowing boats for hire. His enterprise will doubtless be well rewarded, for our river offers admirable facilities for indulging such pastime. Mr. Bottoms we know to be a young man with whom it is pleasant to have dealing, and we expect to see him well patronized during the summer.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Monday, the 12th. inst., while a man named McGahy was returning from the Orange celebration at Marlbanh he was thrown from his horse and so severely injured that his life is despaired of. When found he was unconscious and has remained in that state since, or up to ten o'clock on Tuesday, when our reporter

JUVENILE BELL RINGERS.—Forepaugh's Museum contains a troupe of girl bell ringers, automatically constructed. They play a great variety of delightful melodies upon silver bells.

SUNDAY MAGAZINE for July received from Mr. Henderson. It contains seventeen distinct articles, each one of the highest excellence, besides numerous illustrations. Try a copy of this excellent publication.

EXCURSION.—The annual excursion in connection with the Napanee Canada Presbyterian S. S., will take place on Tuesday 20th July, to Belleville and Trenton per steamer Norfolk. A day of uncommon pleasure may be expected. For full particulars see bills. Tickets, only 50 cents.

FIRE AT CAMPBELLFORD.—A serious fire occurred in Campbellford about two o'clock on the morning of the 7th. Carnaeen & Co's extensive works and contents were totally destroyed. Origin of fire not known; supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Loss about $9,000; insured for $3,500.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—We are informed that a young man met with a very painful accident at Belleville on Monday. Some parties were rolling a barrel of salt on board the steamer Norfolk, and he, attempting to jump over the barrel when in motion, was caught and both legs were broken. We have not learned the name of the unfortunate person.

GOT WET.—One of our excursionists met with an accident on the 12th. A lady, when getting on board the Pierrepoint at Belleville, fell into the water with a splash. She was immediately rescued, not much harmed, but a little damp. It was a big fright for her, however, and she had a chance of realizing how uncertain are the ways of life—even when on an excursion.

THE STORM.—During the thunder storm on Tuesday a building belonging to Mr. Clarke, of Violet, and situated in Ernesttown, was struck by the lightning and burned. A drive house, owned by Mr. P. S. Wartman, of Camden, was also set on fire by the electric fluid, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done. A large elm tree on the farm of Mr. E. Bell, and another on Mr. James Daly's property, near Newburgh,

Mr. YOUNG has chartered two steamers to run from Kingston and four from other parts of the Bay of Quinte, for his mammoth pic-nic in Allison's grove, Adolphustown.

BABY SHOWS.—They are getting popular, and why not? Nice babies are more deserving of prizes than nice hogs, sheep, cows and horses. Kingston thinks so, and will have a baby show during the Central Exhibition in September. Napanee expects the first prize at that show, and will have it, too.

Capt. Johnston must regulate his patent-lever—it's a fast.

ICE CREAM.—It is delicious, and Messrs. Williams, Henry, and Casey intend to gratify the longing desires of every Good Templar who reports himself or herself present at the Lodge meeting next Thursday evening. This should be sufficient inducement to bring out every member, and we are sure their reward will be ample.

PERSONAL.—Mr. S. G. Beatty, Principal of Ontario Commercial College, Belleville, was in town last week, on business connected with his school. He is now on an extensive advertising tour of the Province, which will consume a large share of the summer. Specimens of penmanship, business and ornamental can be seen at this office, and also at the Post Office and hotels. We are pleased to learn of the continued prosperity and popularity of this important business College, and wish our friend the success his energy deserves.

A VALUABLE MONTHLY.—If you want a real first class reliable monthly of the class, we commend the Mechanics Magazine, published monthly in Montreal by Desbats's Lithographic Company. It is well printed and copiously illustrated publication, full of valuable, practical information for mechanics and scientific men. Each number contains a full list of all the patents granted, with illustrations of the most important ones. We say advisedly that no other publication in Canada supplies the place of this magazine. Price $2 per year.

A NEW BUSINESS.—Mr. M. N. Hawley of the Perry Block, Dundas street, is particularly skilled in fine at Napanee Mills, and removed the few pieces of coin deposited thereunder. Whoever did such a mean act would steal the coppers off a dead man's eyes, or cheat a printer.

ROWING.—Mr. Mark Bottoms, of Belleville, has anticipated the wants of Napanee denizens by bringing down a number of neat, light rowing boats for hire. His enterprise will doubtless be well rewarded, for our river offers admirable facilities for indulging such pastime. Mr. Bottoms we know to be a young man with whom it is pleasant to have dealing, and we expect to see him well patronized during the summer.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Monday, the 12th. inst., while a man named McGahy was returning from the Orange celebration at Marlbanh he was thrown from his horse and so severely injured that his life is despaired of. When found he was unconscious and has remained in that state since, or up to ten o'clock on Tuesday, when our reporter saw him. Several physicians were in attendance, and their opinion was that the spine was injured, or broken near the neck.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—Lovers of fine arts would do well to visit Hulett's photographic gallery, Mills Block. He has been many years established in business in Napanee, and has a well earned reputation as a good artist. Mr. Hulett has lately added a large solar camera, which he claims to be the largest of the kind in the Province. He can now produce photographs as large as life, and almost as natural, far exceeding anything of the kind that he has ever done before. By this process ordinary photographs of departed friends are enlarged and beautified wonderfully. We are glad to learn that his business is rapidly extending. His enterprise deserves success.

A GOOD BUSINESS.—Notwithstanding the backward spring and long period of drouth there are tangible evidence of a fine business among the farmers this year and of those engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements. In one day last week Mr. Herring delivered from his machine shop no less than thirty of his superior horse rakes, and the next day his sales amounted to over $2,200. We understand that Mr. Herring has sold this year something like 400 wheel horse rakes and between 125 and 150 reapers and mowers; and more probably would be sold if they were ready. The advantage of well sustaining a large establishment of this kind in our own midst ought not to be overlooked. A large number of good

Bell, and another on Mr. James Daly's property, near Newburgh, were struck and torn to splinters.

GREATLY IMPROVED.—We speak of the re-construction which Mr. Smith, of the Merchant's Bank, has been ordering on the old, dilapidated frame building adjoining. As it stood this spring it was little better than an eyesore; now, after the judicious outlay of a few hundred dollars, a neat and commodious double residence appears. The whole has been rebuilt, from foundation upwards, the original frame alone remaining of the former building. The improvement to the immediate neighborhood is wonderful.

NEW CHURCH.—Father Davis is building a new Church in Marmora. In response to his invitation last week, the Roman Catholics of that section drew 180 loads of stone, all the required timber, and excavated the greater part of the foundation for the new edifice, which is to be made one of the finest rural churches in Canada. In one Sunday $3,500 was subscribed towards its erection. A grand pic nic is to be given in its aid, and Bishop O'Brien of this city is to lay the corner stone.—Whig.

FORCE PUMPS.—Mr. Dunning (brother of A. B. Dunning Esq.,) has located himself at Napanee, and commenced the manufacture of a superior force pump, on quite an extensive scale. For simplicity, cheapness and durability this pump seems superior to any before offered at this market. There is no intricate gear to get out of order, and the valve, being in the bottom of the well, cannot be effected by frost, nor is "priming" necessary at any time. The

A VALUABLE MONTHLY.—If you want a real first class reliable monthly of the class, we commend the Mechanics Magazine, published monthly in Montreal by Desberat's Lithographic Company. It is well-printed and copiously illustrated publication, full of valuable, practical information for mechanics and scientific men. Each number contains a full list of all the patents granted, with illustrations of the most important ones. We say advisedly that no other publication in Canada supplies the place of this magazine. Price $2 per year.

A NEW BUSINESS.—Mr. M. N. Hawley of the Perry Block, Dundas street, is particularly skilled in fine scroll sawing and fancy work, and has opened a fine shop for this purpose. All kinds of fancy brackets, what-nots, and many other things of that kind, that are articles of convenience and ornament at home he makes with rare skill and good taste. Any special order or pattern he will work out most satisfactorily. He is also well skilled in picture framing, and bird cage making. Ladies or gentlemen wishing neat home ornaments, made exactly to their own taste and convenience, would do well to give Hawley a visit. Rooms over Perry's drug store.

AMUSING.—A picture on exhibition in the window of Henry Bro's Book Store is calculated to excite the risibilities of a hypochondriac. We don't know whether the artist got his inspiration from a fugitive newspaper item, or the local scribe his from the production of the artist, but we have read an exceedingly humorous account of the actual scene. If we mistake not the devotional language of the good man was painfully interrupted when the enraged cat took refuge from the dog's attack upon his back, and a sudden change came over his spirit. We are not inclined to be merry over serious things, but the picture above referred to is so ridiculously amusing it would "tickle a calf, and make the brute laugh in the face of a quarterly meeting."

By this process ordinary photographs of departed friends are enlarged and beautified wonderfully. We are glad to learn that his business is rapidly extending. His enterprise deserves success.

The advantage of well sustaining a large establishment of this kind in our own midst ought not to be overlooked. A large number of good mechanics are constantly employed and thousands of dollars every year saved in the county instead of being sent abroad for foreign manufacture. The value of horse rakes alone sold amounts to between $10,000 and $12,000. We are glad to see that the farmers are appreciating the advantages of implements made at home, that can be at once repaired if broken or out of order.

A LARGE SHINGLE BUSINESS.—Our excellent friend and enterprising townsman, W. McMullen, Esq., has gone largely this year into the manufacture of sawed shingles, of a superior quality. He has secured a large property on the Salmon River, formerly known as Vaders Mills, where he has fitted up an establishment with the very best and most improved machinery. About 20,000 shingles are being manufactured each day, and seven men are employed about the mill. Last winter about 1,000 cords of cedar were purchased for the mill, and it is now being rapidly manufactured up. The shingles are being shipped to various places, but principally to Ogdensburgh and Kingston, where they find ready sale, considering the unfavourable state of business. He has also a store opened and a boarding house on the premises. We are glad to know that the well known business enterprise of Mr. McMullen is meeting with good success.

improvement to the immediate neighborhood is wonderful.

NEW CHURCH.—Father Davis is building a new Church in Marmora. In response to his invitation last week, the Roman Catholics of that section drew 180 loads of stone, all the required timber, and excavated the greater part of the foundation for the new edifice, which is to be made one of the finest rural churches in Canada. For simplicity, cheapness and durability this pump seems superior to any before offered at this market. There is no intricate gear to get out of order, and the valve, being in the bottom of the well, cannot be effected by frost, nor is "priming" necessary at any time. The manufactory is near Diamond's big mill, south of the canal.

PRENTICE BOYS EXCURSION.—Excursions are now all the rage, and almost every body goes, but the Prentice Boys of Napanee wish it generally understood that they have not yet come to the front. On the 12th. of August next they purpose having their annual excursion to Kingston, where ample preparations will be made to give the visitors a cordial reception. There can be no more agreeable place for such a trip than the picturesque old Limestone city, and this time special inducements will be offered, which must attract a crowd.

STILL EXTENDING.—We are glad to notice that Messrs. Gibbard & Son are still constantly extending their business. They are now erecting a considerable addition to their ware house, so as to give a much more extensive display of their manufactured furniture. Notwithstanding the hard times their business is in full blast, and as large a number of hands are employed as before. On Wednesday they received a cargo of splendid walnut lumber, by the schooner Vision, Capt. Harris, from the United States. The good reputation of the Messrs. Gibbards' establishment is being widely extended over the province.

Fore- THE REASON WHY.—Several of our e of exchanges have this item:—

con- “Napanee makes the boast that no-ty of body got drunk there on Dominion ls. Day.” Exactly, we do, and for very lived good reasons, too. There was nobody tains in town to get drunk—all skeddaddled ie of to fairer scenes. But then, we might mer- add for the information of curious ones, s ex- that few persons get drunk in Napanee on any day. The temperance Societies rsion have converted every bibulist in town, panee and bar-tenders are talking about take going to Belleville or Kingston, or en-
, to gaging in some other and more res-amer spectable business.

FLOWERS THAT NEVER WITHER.

There are flowers that never wither.
There are skies that never fade,
There are trees that cast forever
Cooling bowers of leafy shade.
There are silver wavelets flowing,
With a lulling sound of rest,
Where the west wind softly blowing
Fans the far lands of the blest.

Thitherward our steps are tending,
Oft through dim oppressive fears,
More of grief than pleasure blending
In the darkening woof of years,
Often would our footsteps weary,
Sink upon our winding way,
But that, when all looks most dreary,
O'er us beams a cheering ray.

Thus the Father who hath made us
Tenants of this world of care,
Knoweth how to kindly aid us
With the burdens we must bear;
Knoweth how to cause the spirit
Hopefully to raise its eyes
Towards the home it doth inherit,
Far beyond the azure skies.

There's a voice that whispers lowly
Down within this heart of mine,
Where emotions the most holy
Ever make their sacred shrine,
And it tells a thrilling story
Of the great Redeemer's love!
And the all bewildering glory
Of the better land above.

O, this life with all its sorrow,
Hasteth onward to a close
And a few more brief to-morrows
Will have ended all our woes;
Then o'er death the part immortal
Shall sublimely rise and soar
O'er the star resplendent portal,
There to dwell for evermore.

OUR HOME ON THE HILL

"We live to learn?" I say, we learn to live; that is, everything we learn helps us to live—not exist—that belongs to a higher power; but to gather, as we walk this life, things pleasant and useful, certainly helps us to live. Our home on the hill is like thousands of others where the daily home duties glide along. I shall only introduce the inmates, when they can suggest useful and pleasant things to the readers of the EXPRESS.

CLEANING GILT MOULDINGS, p. 237.—Last fall, when everyone was busy fixing up for winter, Rabie came to me with a perplexed face exclaiming:

"What shall I do with the gilt frames? Why are we so tormented with flies? Little pests, I would like to take the last one of them, and—"

"Stop," I said, "save your breath and time. Go quickly into the kitchen; get some onion skins; boil them; take the water, and with a sponge or small camel's hair-brush, you can easily get off the last speck."—

"Oh, Brunie! you are a treasure," and away she went.

While we were at tea, she announced

WHY HE DIDN'T MARRY.

It is said that Sir Walter Campbell, who was lately in a merchantile firm in New York, wished to marry an American lady, of good position in the Empire State. Upon his applying to the young lady's father, the parent stated that he always referred all those questions to his wife. The mother, in her turn, stated that she must refer it to the Duke of Argyle. The duke pleaded that, considering his connection with the royalty, he must consult his eldest son. The marquis could do nothing without the Queen's consent. Her Majesty felt that the issue must be referred to the Duke of Saxe Cobourg-Gotha, as head of the family. The duke rejoined that, since the recent changes in Germany, he looked upon the Emperor William as his sovereign, and must bow to his advice. The Emperor said he could do nothing without Prince Bismarck's opinion; and Prince Bismarck declared he had no opinion at all, one way or the other; and so the question—to marry or not to marry—was brought to a dead lock.

WOMEN IN THE GARDEN.

However aghast some "fine ladies" may regard the idea of working in the garden, I consider it one of the most wholesome means of exercise within our reach. Wholesome especially, because we have an object—and an interesting one in this exercise—which is the growth of flowers and plants. Before commencing work in the garden, put on a pair of worn-out leather gloves, a broad-brimmed sun-hat, and a pair of good, stout boots; if not stout, then wear a pair of thin gum overshoes. The dampness of the soil is very liable to produce a "cold." Don't be afraid that the labor will hurt you, even if you should become very tired; on the contrary, it will strengthen you, give you rosy cheeks and may add years to your life. There is not a spring that I do not spend two weeks at least a twerk in the garden, and I tell you that to me there is nothing so agreeable, I may say fascinating; and this feeling is doubled when I see the fine flowers and good vegetables growing and put upon the table from my own handiwork.

"FOUR GREAT TRIALS."

"These boys are the torment of my life," exclaimed Mrs. Lee, as three ruddy, wide-awake urchins came prancing into the sitting-room, right through the tidy kitchen, to ask permission to go down to the common to play an hour, which was given, rather ungraciously, by their mother.

"I always thought they were nice children," Anna. You cannot expect they will behave like old men," said a maiden aunt, who had that day come for a week's visit to her favorite niece; "boys will be boisterous any way."

"I suppose so, but mine are so heedless! Did you see their muddy boots, tracking clear through the house?"

"No, I was looking at their round, healthy faces. They are fine boys; you ought to be thankful that they are so healthy."

"Yes, but they are so noisy and rude! Girls are not half the bother, they are quiet sometimes."

"I think there is little difference, Anna, in the care between girls and boys, when they are small; if children are healthy, and have common sense, a mother should be contented. There is care in training, but as the twig is bent"—

"Oh, Aunt, you know nothing about bringing up children. All the old proverbs in the world can't convince me that children are anything but nuisances."

"Why, Aunt Lee, I am perfectly astonished! You do not know what you are talking about! These little darling boys to be called torments and nuisances!" and the lips of the speaker quivered with emotion.

"You are just like their father. He says I don't love them as I ought, or I should not fret so much at them."

"I think, Anna, you love your children, but you have allowed yourself to become fretful and impatient, and I am afraid you will not make a pleasant home for the children."

"I cannot help it if I don't. They keep the house in a general hubbub, their playthings are scattered everywhere, and there is no end of litter. I used to keep things tidy."

"I think you do not know, Anna, and I really think it is a weakness to be so particular about your house. Your husband and children would be happier, if you were a little less particular about your housekeeping."

While we were at tea, she announced that the frames were as good as new. I hope H.W.M. will be as successful.

FANCY WORK, p. 247.—Though Saturday is a busy day with us, two hours of it are devoted to a little band of workers, who meet and are taught to sew. The articles made are sold, and the proceeds given to the poor of the parish. The children bring their mite, a penny, which also goes into the fund. ### STICK TO OLD FRIENDS.

Never give up old friends for new ones. Make new ones, too, if you like; and when you have learned that you can trust them, love them if you will, but remember the old ones still. Do not forget that they have been tried and true, that they have been merry with you in time of pleasure, and when sorrow came to you they sorrowed also.—No matter if they have gone down in the social scale and you up; no matter if poverty and misfortune have come to them while prosperity and plenty have fallen to you, are they any the less true for that? Are not their hearts as warm and tender if they do beat beneath homespun instead of velvet? Yes, friends, they are as true and tender, and loving; and don't forget old friends.

AN INVITATION TO SMALL BIRDS.

The Rural World has discovered a use for the old discarded fruit and oyster cans, which commonly constitute a decided nuisance in the domestic economy, as no one knows just how to get rid of them. Its suggestion is as follows:

hem in the trees so that you can by driving a small corner of the cans, place them so they will leaves come out. on the shady giving two nails can into the except such homes, in All this is

"I think you do not know, Anna, and I really think it is a weakness to be so particular about your house. Your husband and children would be happier, if you were a little less particular about your housekeeping."

"Mr. Lee says he wishes I would not kill myself trying to be so neat; but what would folks say if I should let things go at odds and ends, I could not stand being talked about as a slack housewife."

"I should rather be called that than a cross, fretful wife and mother; but no danger, Anna, but you will always keep things tidy, it is natural for you."

"Perhaps too it is natural for me to be fretful; my husband says it is, but I did not use to be so; everything was pleasant."

"My dear Anna, your temper was not tried before you had a home of your own; no one can tell what their disposition is till they have tested it by trials and cares."

"Well, I have enough of them, anyway."

"I presume so, but Anna, you may live to see the day that you will look back and call this the happiest time of your life—your husband and children all with you and are all in health and prosperity."

"But, Anna, just think of the cares and anxieties, and Edward is not as he used to be; he gets out of patience as well as I."

"Perhaps he has trials to bear, my dear; men have cares and anxieties that annoy them as much as the petty troubles that women have to bear. Do you ever think of that?"

The baby in the crib just then awoke, and as Mrs. Lee lifted the little creature in her arms she turned to her sister.

The Rural World has discovered a use for the old discarded fruit and oyster cans, which commonly constitute a decided nuisance in the domestic economy, as no one knows just how to get rid of them. Its suggestion is as follow: Put them in the trees so that you can reach them by driving a small nail in the corner of the cans, and place them so they will hang with the leaves come out. Put them on the shady side of the tree, giving two nails to each can into the trunk except such as are in the homes, in all this is done by these living the it.

"Perhaps too it is natural for me to be fretful; my husband says it is, but I did not use to be so; everything was pleasant."

"My dear Anna, your temper was not tried before you had a home of your own; no one can tell what their disposition is till they have tested it by trials and cares."

The baby in the crib just then awoke. and as Mrs. Lee lifted the little creature in her arms she turned to her visitor: "Here is another trial you have never seen."

"Another blessing, Anna! a boy, I suppose, by your calling him another trial! I am ashamed of you! Such a lovely baby!"

"Edward says he is a beauty; but just think, Aunt, four great rough boys; it is enough to discourage any woman."

"Anna, that is just as you receive them and feel. I should call you a happy woman, with your surroundings; but you try to be miserable, and I fear you will succeed."
